Bi-Aura Energy Therapy Training

Bi-Aura practitioners without exception view their training as profoundly thought shifting and life changing.

“The course was an experience of firstly self-discovery then realisation of the potential we all have, a journey into the realms of the quantum physical world, which connects us with everything in nature and indeed the universe.” Margaret Lovatt. Perth. Nurse.

As well as Bi-Aura energy therapy techniques, exercises and theory, emphasis is placed on the personal healing and development of the trainee. Using the simple process of focussing on a specific chakra each weekend, the subconscious is brought into consciousness and healing commences at a cellular level. Supported by the friendly training team, over the part time nine months training period, students undergo a great deal of self-evaluation and clearing leading to wholeness and liberation from limiting beliefs. For many this can be a tumultuous and enlightening journey as old emotions blocked in the energy matrix surface for release. Consequently the course is structured to establish a solid foundation and strong connection to the earth through the lower chakras before moving into the upper chakras and higher awareness. This way it is possible to sort what is real from illusion and avoid the mental and emotional confusion, which can result from working with higher frequency energies if the link to the physical is weak. In other words Bi-Aura practitioners are very down to earth people, living in the here and now, with the skills to work safely with higher energies.

Graduates of Bi-Aura and other schools of bio-energy are invited to become members of The Bi-Aura Foundation where ongoing support and guidance is provided to help them set up and build their business including Practitioners Business Manual, stationery, business cards, promotional material, client referrals and annual advanced training courses.

Membership ensures each practitioner is accountable, insured, working to the same code of ethics and providing a consistently high level of service to the public.

The Bi-Aura Foundation is constantly working to raise the profile of Bi-Aura through the media, exhibitions and interaction with the medical professions. The aim of the foundation is for Bi-Aura to become fully integrated with orthodox medicine and for the therapy to be readily available to everyone.

The Bi-Aura Foundation became a member of the BCMA because of the association's professional and tireless work to promote and protect complementary therapies and their powerful voice in the House of Commons.

Bi-Aura training courses are commencing Sept. London, Edinburgh and Dublin and anyone thinking of training is encouraged to attend a one-day workshop.
